Rob & Kate:

I wonder what's taking the judge so long to sign off on the Decree? In any event, I will be out of the office on a family vacation all next week. I will have my laptop computer and cell phone Ex. 6 - Personal Privacy with me, but email and phone access might be spotty next week. For any emails to me about the status of the Decree, would you please copy Nelson Johnson. That way we will be sure to promptly alert the Honeywell finance folks that it is time to make the penalty payment.

Thanks for your help on this.

Tom

Rob & Kate:

I hate to keep bugging you, but the Honeywell folks are trying to prepare their financial statements for this fiscal quarter and if the penalty is paid before the end of the month, they must include that payment in their financial statement for this quarter. This means everyone up and down the corporate structure is on pins and needles about when the Consent Decree will be finalized. So I would very much appreciate it if you would keep a close eye on the judge and let me know as soon as you can after he has signed the Decree.

Thanks for all of your help on this.
